...dge Thayer's Home Wrecked By Blast; ...rs. Thayer Injured

...e Presiding Judge at Murder Trial ...f Sacco and Vanzetti—Literally ...lown From Their Beds—Homes ...n Vicinity Shaken by Blast.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 27 (AP).—...e home of Judge Webster Thayer, ...o presided at the murder trial ...t led to the execution of Nicola ...cco and Bartholomeo Vanzetti, ...ternationally-known radicals, was ...ecked by an explosion today.

Police said the blast, which oc...rred just after 4 a. m., apparently ...s caused by a bomb.

Judge Thayer was uninjured but ...s. Thayer was buried beneath ...reckage, receiving cuts about her ...ad and suffering a severe shock. ...e and a maid, Miss Joan Ashe, ...ffering from shock, were taken to ...spitals.

The house was wrecked, a garage ...t the rear was tipped over on its ...de, and homes for several hundred ...rds were shaken by the blast.

Police said a neighbor saw an au...mobile draw up to the front of the ...ayer home a few minutes before ...e explosion. A man got out, walk...d to the rear of the house, ran back ...o the automobile a moment later ...d sped away, the same neighbor ...old police.

At the rear, beneath a veranda ...d directly under the judge's bed...oom, police found bits of the bomb. ...Had it blown in an upward direction ...ather than sideways, the judge must ...ave been killed, police said.

The Thayer family and the maid ...ere literally blown from their beds, ...ut the judge escaped uninjured.

Mrs. Thayer was helped through ...front door by firemen and taken to ...he Memorial Hospital, where her ...ondition was not regarded as seri...us. She received several cuts about ...he head. Joan Ashe, the maid, car...ied down a fire ladder from her ...econd floor room, was taken to the ...ity Hospital with cuts and bruises. ...Her condition was not serious either.

The judge walked from his home ...naided and remained on the ...rounds, visibly shaken, to offer what ...id he might to firemen and investi...ators. The house did not catch fire ...fter the explosion.

Entire City Roused By Blast.

Virtually the entire city was ...oused by the blast which could be ...eard for miles.

Neither the police nor Judge Thayer was ready to lay the blame ...t the door of any person or organ...ation.

"I should hate to think," Judge Thayer said, "that because a man ...does his duty before mankind and ...God his penalty is this."

A little later, in a slightly more ...smiling manner, Judge Thayer com...mented: "They can't kill me that ...easy."

Judge Thayer's home at 180 Insti...tute Road has been under the watch...fulness of the police many times ...since August 23, 1927, when Nicola ...Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti went ...to the electric chair at Massachusetts ...state prison for the murder of a pay...master and a guard in South Brain...tree in April, 1920.

The judge, a noted jurist in Mas...sachusetts, had sentenced Sacco and ...Vanzetti in April, 1927, after a long ...drawn out legal battle. A Norfolk ...county jury had previously found ...the men guilty in July, 1921, and ...nine separate motions were filed for ...a new trial. All were overruled.

A commission of three men was ...finally appointed by then Governor ...Alvan T. Fuller, and they reported ...they saw no reason to reverse Judge ...Thayer's death sentence.

Threatened Many Times.

Judge Thayer was threatened ...many times and many more times ...demonstrations were held in the ...vicinity of his Worcester home. No ...resort was ever made to actual ...violence, however, and his home was ...guarded each May Day as a routine ...assignment.

The blast blew out the entire rear ...part of the house and caved in the ...walls of the barn and garage. Every ...window in the house was smashed. ...Furniture was smashed and thrown ...about.

Neighbors called the fire depart...ment. Firemen found the judge ...groping around his room in the ...darkness. Mrs. Thayer was found ...by policemen in her room dazed and ...bleeding from a cut on the head.

The maid was hysterical and ...penned in by wreckage on the top ...floor. Firemen took her down a ...ladder. She was then taken to a ...hospital.

Shortly after 5 o'clock Judge Thayer conferred with newspaper...men and police officials in front of ...his home.

No fire followed the blast. Gas ...pipes were torn apart and the in...terior of the house filled with dust, ...but no fire occurred.

An automobile standing in the ga...rage was enveloped in the almost 20 ...feet of wreckage. The terrific blast, ...instead of blowing the garage to ...pieces blew it sideways, where it ...trampled up on the adjoining lawn.

Passage from the second to the ...third floor, where the maid had ...sleeping quarters was blocked, with ...the stairway to that floor blasted ...away.

Windows were blown clear and ...curtains were in shreds.

Another Home Badly Damaged

Across the street, the home of ...Merrill S. June was badly damaged ...by the blast but his 20 months old ...son, Steven, escaped injury when a ...plate glass window near his crib ...was blown in. All windows in the ...street side of the house, many of ...them plate glass, were shattered and ...several of the rooms were littered ...with heavy splinters and shattered ...boards which had been blown ...across the street from the Thayer ...home.

It was the first action of violence against Judge Thayer since he sentenced Sacco and Vanzetti. Several "parades" had been staged in front of his home by Communists in the past who carried signs but made no effort to molest the judge or anyone in the home. The last one was about four years ago.

Memorial Services For State Councilors Held by Jr. O. U. A. M.

Past State Councilors of Jr. O. U. A. M. Honored at Impressive Service During State Convention—Banquet a Success.

An impressive service in memory of deceased Past State Councilors, open to the public, occupied the first hour of today's session of the annual convention of the New York State Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., being held in the meeting room of the Elks' Club, this city.

The service was in charge of State Secretary Franklin S. Faye, the room being darkened except for such light as came from a large illuminated replica of the insignia of the order which occupied the center of the stage. In front of the stake was the altar, occupying the center of a square composed of boxes of ferns, vines and potted plants.

Following the invocation and the singing of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by the audience, the 23rd Psalm was read by C. M. Gardner, Jr. Edna Beatrice Bloom, soprano, sang beautifully, accompanied by Everett Tuchings on the piano, after which the names of the deceased past state councilors were called. As each name was called an officer of the order advanced to the altar, deposited a rose and gave the record of the former officer. Those remembered, the terms of office beginning with 1878, were:

F. Lawson, L. Schaeffer, F. W. Kautz, W. H. Comerdinger, Thomas MacKnight, L. L. Whitney, J. Ehret, Thomas Wooten, Richard Bush, I. W. Jenkins, F. E. Parker, L. E. Singer, J. A. Van da Linda, William H. Moore, L. F. Page, L. E. Binger, W. N. Rudd, R. L. Lightfoot, S. W. Butler, W. K. Haviland, G. E. Flandreau, William C. Van Deusen.

At the conclusion of this portion of the service Miss Bloom and Knight MacGregor sang, "There Is No Night There."

The memorial address was an eloquent tribute to these outstanding workers in the order who had gone before and was given by William S. McClure of New York city, a past state councilor.

After a finely rendered solo by Mr. MacGregor the memorial service was brought to a close with the benediction and the convention was called to order for the regular morning executive session, the program including discussion of resolutions and further discussion of the report of the state law and appeal committee, laid over from Monday. The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock, at which time the unfinished business of the convention, including the election of officers, was taken up.

The chief business of the session Monday afternoon was the adoption of the report of the state legislative committee and the reception of the report of the state law and appeal committee, which was laid over for further consideration, and nomination of officers.

There was but one nomination for state councilor, Cyrus M. Knapp of Spring Valley, who has served as vice-councilor. For state vice-councilor Conrad Knoth of Brooklyn and Albert Young were named. Other nominations were: Conductor, Robert H. Wessel of New York; warden, Daniel Minor, Schenectady; inside sentinel, Stewart Noeb of Maspeth, L. I., and William Schufeldt of Chatham; outside sentinel, Andrew Schnert; trustee, 3 years, Adolph Schneider of Syracuse; trustee, 2 years, John Milliken of Newburgh.

Invitations were received from New York, Albany, Glens Falls, Watertown and Syracuse to hold the convention next year in their city.

The banquet at the Governor Clinton Monday night was attended by 334 delegates and guests. The entertainment features consisted of musical numbers by Knight MacGregor, star of "Blossom Time," and Edna Beatrice Bloom, soprano. The accompanist was Everett Tuchings. It was very highly enjoyed. The evening closed with dancing with music by Zucca's orchestra.

Mrs. Charles Floyd Struck by Auto

Mrs. Floyd was cut about the face and bruised about the knee. Miss Brown in her report stated that Mrs. Floyd walked directly in front of her car.

Organized Local Society To Uphold The 18th Amendment

About 60 People Attended Mass Meeting Held Under Auspices of The Flying Squadron Foundation at Wurts Street Baptist Church Monday Evening.

The organization of The Local Society for the Support of the Eighteenth Amendment is the aim of the members of the Flying Squadron Foundation which is holding a series of meetings in this city, the last to be held this evening in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. At the meeting held Monday evening in the Wurts Street Baptist Church the speaker was Miss Norma C. Brown, vice president of the organization and associate editor of the National Enquirer, a prohibition paper published weekly by the Foundation.

The mass meeting Monday evening was attended by about 60 people who listened closely to the points made by the speaker. At the close of her address pledge cards were distributed to the audience with the request that they contribute as much as they felt they were capable of to carry on the work of the organization, and also enrollment cards which read "Believing in the Eighteenth Amendment and pledging myself to its support, I hereby apply for enrollment as a member of The Local Society for the Support of the Eighteenth Amendment."

At the suggestion of Miss Brown a nominating committee consisting of the Rev. John B. Steketee, chairman of the meeting, the Rev. Mr. Brown and Dr. C. B. Cragin, were appointed to suggest a list of officers to be voted on at the mass meeting to be held this evening in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

Miss Brown in opening her address faced frankly the menace in the present condition to the cause embodied in the Eighteenth Amendment of the Constitution. She described this crisis as much accentuated because this is a national political year.

"Whether we like it or not," said the speaker, "prohibition is and will remain throughout its existence a political question. I use that term in its broadest sence rather than in the narrow partisan one. Whenever a policy has been written into the fundamental law of our land, it becomes a governmental one. It can be made effective only as those in power regard their oaths of office to enforce the law.

Miss Brown covered then somewhat in detail the four-fold political attack directed against the Eighteenth Amendment upon prohibition. She dealt upon the importance of saving state laws and the militant effort of the wets to get rid of them. She pointed out that in some states this can be done only by action of the legislatures while in others there are provisions for binding popular referenda.

"Legislators are bound by oath to support the Constitution and can vote to repeal laws in support of the Eighteenth Amendment only by flying in the face of it. If the people who are the ultimate source of authority, the supreme source of power, regard more lightly their fundamental law than they bind, by oath, their representatives in office to do, we are riding close to the rocks of Democratic Government."

The speaker referred to the concurrent clause of the Eighteenth Amendment saying, "states cannot retain power without retaining responsibility."

The next two attacks by the political route she declared to be the efforts to control legislatures and the congress with a view to submission and ratification of repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment. She recognized the claim that, should submission come, it would be to ratification conventions in the states, but reminded her hearers that should that prove to be the case, legislatures would, in most states, control the calling of such conventions and other provision for them.

The fourth political attack she described as the effort to capture the presidency. Here the speaker dealt frankly, but with no effort to dictate a course of action to her audience, with the two major candidates. She presented the wet record of Governor Roosevelt as consistently wet. Although she dissented from the hopes of President Hoover that a method might be found whereby states might have larger responsibility on the liquor issue while avoiding the evils of the old system to the return of which the President will not consent, and although she regarded him at this point as "dreaming dreams and seeing visions with little connection with reality," she declared faith in his integrity, in his determination to enforce the law and in his own desire to see the nation free from the liquor traffic.

But Miss Brown warned her hearers that they must prepare for a long day of battle, and launched a discussion for plans of organization to meet the continuing attack of the wets.

Guard Home of Harvard President

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 27 (AP).—Guards were thrown around the home of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University today after word had been received of the explosion at the home of Judge Webster Thayer in Worcester.

Uniformed and plain clothes policemen patrolled about the house, located in Harvard Yard. They explained that the Cambridge police were called in to aid the Harvard police because the college opens tomorrow and there were an unusually large number of strangers on the campus.

President Lowell was one of the committee of three named by the then Governor Alvan T. Fuller to hear witnesses and pass on the guilt or innocence of Sacco and Vanzetti. They found that the pair had been justly convicted.

Local Police Give Newburgh Officers Dinner on Monday

Following their game with the Newburgh police at the Fair Grounds Monday afternoon the Kingston police, their rivals and a number of invited guests, went to the Van Ross Hotel, Crown street, where a delicious turkey dinner was served and very much enjoyed by those who partook of it and heard speeches following the meal by prominent speakers.

Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association which has volunteered to pay all expenses of the game, proceeds of which will go to the Volunteer Aid Committee to buy clothing and other necessities for needy school children, acted as toastmaster. He thanked the Newburgh police for their cooperation in helping to promote the cause and also all who in any manner assisted.

Mayor Carey Speaks.

The first speaker introduced by Toastmaster Keresman was Mayor Eugene B. Carey, who said that he thought he batted 100 per cent as a speaker for in the morning he addressed the United Order of American Mechanics at their convention, as did Senator A. H. Wicks, who, the mayor said would have a chance to keep up his average as he is to run for re-election this November. The mayor highly complimented the police both of Newburgh and Kingston, punctuating his talk with humorous incidents that happened during the game, such as Ed Mahoney's slide for home to score the run that tied the game in the eighth inning, Winnie Entrott's effort to catch a high fly ball with a cigarette in his mouth and several plays made by Officer Bill Leonard.

Mayor Carey informed the Police Department that he is behind it 100 per cent and is willing to cooperate with it in every movement. He added that all he expected in return is fairness. He was loudly applauded as he took his seat.

Senator Wicks, the next speaker, complimented the patrolmen on their generosity for having worked with the Volunteer Aid Committee and also reported that as chairman of the ticket committee he was ready to tell the police that the amount of money realized by the sale of tickets by the members would be around $500. In this was not included the sales made by the police themselves. They disposed of something like $300 worth of tickets.

Principal Patrick H. Cullen, of School No. 3, also was a speaker, and covered the activities of the police from the standpoint of service to the community. He likened the knights of old who are exposed to many dangers in defending right, and who many times received little credit for their efforts, because many do not realize the hazards connected with the position.

Conrad J. Heiselman, alderman at large, followed Mr. Cullen and praised the policemen for their part in the movement for relief as they thereby took considerable strain off the city budget. He thanked the patrolmen for inviting him to the dinner which, he said, would have tempted Mahatma Gandhi to break his fast had he been present.

City Judge Bernard A. Culloton brought up the valuable part such a thing as the baseball game plays in strengthening cooperation between the two police departments and was of the opinion that it should be an annual event.

W. H. Grogan, local attorney, who acts as counsel to the Patrolmen's Association, gave an interesting talk on the work the organization is doing.

May be Annual Affair.

Concluding the program Chief Brown of Newburgh spoke saying he was happy to be present and that his men were privileged to take part in helping the worthy cause for which the game was played. He also said he hoped the Newburghers would be able to trim the Kingston police again next year.

After the banquet a social was held at Excelsior Hose fire house.

Judge A. T. Clearwater, one of the invited guests who was unable to attend the banquet, sent the following letter to Peter Keresman expressing his regrets and regard for the police department:

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Profoundly to my sorrow, I am unable to accept your courteous invitation to attend the dinner given by your Association to the members of the Kingston and Newburgh policemen's baseball game.

My connection with the police department of Kingston has covered a period of some 36 years, during nine of which I was district attorney of the county, nine of which I was upon the bench, and for 18 years vice president of the New York State Probation Commission.

During this period, I have had many opportunities to acquaint myself with the police activities of a large number of other American cities and have been the guest of the heads of the police departments of London, Paris and Vienna.

It is a great pleasure to say that the patrolmen and other officers of the police department of Kingston in integrity, efficiency, dignity and urbanity in every respect are the equals of any of those of any of the cities I have visited, of which I know.

May I ask you to present my affectionate regards to the members of your force, and to all your guests?

As always,
Warmly and admiringly yours,
A. T. CLEARWATER.

The Rev. Dr. Frank H. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, also sent a communication expressing his regret at not being able to be present on account of an engagement in New York city.

Hurricane Strikes San Juan, 30 Known Dead, Hundreds Hurt

Thousands Are Left Homeless and Property Damage Is Greater Than That Left in Wake of Disastrous Blow in 1928—Residents of Santo Domingo Panic Stricken.

San Juan, P. R., Sept. 27 (AP).—At least thirty persons are known to have been killed in a terrific hurricane which struck this city last night.

The full force of a 120-mile wind struck before midnight and lashed the city until 2:30 o'clock this morning, causing property damage even greater than that left in the wake of the disastrous 1928 blow.

Hundreds were injured and thousands were left homeless. Most of the dead, the first reports indicated, were in smaller outlying towns, such as Barrios, Sabanallana, Catano and Rio Piedras.

In San Juan the loss of life was materially reduced by the police who took the precaution of rounding up hundreds of women and children, removing them from their homes and placing them for safety in the more substantial church and school buildings.

The villages, consisting for the most part of flimsy homes, had no such protection. Even in San Juan homes were unroofed by the hundreds and torrents of rain poured in.

First Reports of Death Toll.

First reports gave the following death toll:

Barrios, 14 dead; Sabanallana, 4; Catano, 2; Rio Piedras, 10.

Various reports from the last named town placed the death toll there as high as 40, with seven members of one family killed in their home. Rio Piedras is about five miles east of San Juan, directly in the path of the storm. The unsubstantial native dwellings stood exposed to the hillsides.

The death toll mounted as reports from other outlying districts came in, the little town of Carolina reported 10 dead. A native of Caguas was electrocuted by a live wire.

The chief of police sent out a motorcycle squad to all towns along the north coast instructed to return before night fall with reports on dead and injured.

Among the Americans living here there were no deaths of injuries, a preliminary check indicated. No American resident escaped without loss, however, due chiefly to heavy rains pouring into the unroofed houses.

Panic In Santo Domingo

Santo Domingo, Republic of Domingo, Sept. 27 (AP).—Residents of this city were panic stricken today, fearing that the hurricane which caused heavy loss of life and property damage in Puerto Rico would strike here next.

This morning there was only a slight rain and the barometer was normal, but the wind blew persistently from the direction of Puerto Rico.

Santo Domingo has not yet recovered fully from the disastrous hurricane of September, 1930, when nearly 2,000 persons lost their lives.

"A Woman's Way" to Be Annual Kiwanis Play for Milk Fund

"A Woman's Way," written and directed by Joseph H. Hughes and played by his company, the Hughes players, will appear at the high school auditorium on the evenings of October 11 and 12 under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, as the annual Kiwanis entertainment, to provide money for the milk fund of the club.

This play, according to the author, is a comedy-drama concerned with one John Murray, who has lost his wife, and heart broken over the loss he sinks into the depths of despair, until through his little son, Tim, he meets a beautiful young woman who promptly falls in love with John. Mr. Murray fights against this love, and in the meantime, another son, Happy, returns home from his wanderings around the world and complicates the situation by informing his father that he is in love with the same woman. The working out of this problem is the situation those attending the performance will witness.

Tickets for the production this year have been reduced in keeping with the times, so that although the same high type of production will be presented as in the past, the public will be able to witness the play at a considerable saving to their purses.

Kenneth Hughes, long known as the boy wonder, when he was doing concert work at the age of 7 and 8 years, is now 18, and has finished a series of songs for his brilliant father's new play, "A Woman's Way." Among many popular hits that he has written for this fine play are "Have a Little Conference With Me," "Mother Dear" and "I'm in Love." Kenneth sings these songs with great success in the play, besides playing the part of Happy Murray, which gives him a splendid opportunity to show his talent as an actor, as well as being a fine singer.

Joseph Hughes, Jr., the sensational juvenile actor, will also be in the cast. Although only 11, Joe has a wonderful stage career, having made his bow at the tender age of 16 days. He is staged in "A Woman's Way" as Tim, a part that will make him a great favorite.

Among the other members who play prominent parts are Joseph H. Hughes, the writer and producer of many plays, including "Driftwood," "The Unbeliever," "Behind the Clouds," "The Bait," "The Last Hour" and many others. Mr. Hughes claims this play, "A Woman's Way," is the most thrilling production he has ever produced. It is full of comedy, singing and heart interest that will delight everyone who attends.

Favors Delay In Wage Negotiations

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP).—A suspension of railway wage negotiations during the rest of 1932 is favored by President Hoover.

The President feels the economic situation after the first of the year will afford a clearer background for discussing a proposed additional 10 per cent pay cut.

His position was made known yesterday by Secretary Doak. After conferring with Mr. Hoover, Doak said in a formal statement:

"In the matter of the railway wage discussion now going on, the President last week expressed the view, both to the representatives of railway labor and to the leading railway presidents who have conferred with him, that he feels it is desirable that this question should be deferred at the present time.

"The present agreement does not expire until February 1st next. The President's view was that it might be well agreed to defer further discussions until the end of the year, as the general economic situation would be much clearer at that time and negotiations could be based on a better realization of the actual circumstances existing."

Mr. Hoover's intervention had been sought by the Railway Labor Executives' Association after this group refused to confer with railroad presidents on the subject of another wage cut. A one-year 10 per cent reduction was agreed to last year.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. John Polacco of 12 Cordts street, a son, James Joseph.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilmott of 57 Staples street, a daughter, Mary Ann, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ostrander of Woodstock, a son, Alfred, at Benedictine Hospital.

Airplane Pilot And His Passenger Killed

Millerton, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP).—An airplane pilot and his passenger were killed today in a crash 10 miles from this village and near the Massachusetts and Connecticut state lines.

Papers found in the men's pockets indicated that the pilot was G. D. Hatple of 1516 61st street, Brooklyn, and the passenger Joseph Kowalski of 206 Second avenue, Schenectady, N. Y.

Residents of this section saw the plane traveling, apparently, from Brooklyn toward Schenectady at 7:29 o'clock this morning. A short time later a crash was heard, followed by an explosion. Farmers searched for nearly two hours, however, before they came upon the wrecked two-passenger cabin plane.

The nose of the plane was imbedded into the ground, as if the craft had dived while out of control. The framework was shattered, and the men's bodies were in the wreckage, the pilot by the license number NC9554.

So far as Coroner Howard Wilson could learn, no one saw the crash, which occurred in Columbia county, but close to the Dutchess county line, on what is known as the Doodletown road.

Body Found in Barge Canal.

Newark, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP).—The body of Margaret Bassler, 54, missing since last night from her sister's home here, was found today in the Barge Canal. There was no indication of an attack and her family could give no reason for suicide. She has two sisters living in Utica. Coroner Arthur Beemer is investigating.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP).—Treasury receipts for September 24 were $[illegible] expenditures $5,955,-[illegible] balance $877,589,593.68. Customs duties for 24 days of September were $20,063,363.53.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, Sept. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brooks returned home last Friday from a honeymoon trip to New England. Mr and Mrs Brooks, who were married last spring, made their headquarters in Boston while on their tour, spending much of the time in motoring along the coast as for north as points in Maine.

School Tax Collector Homer Markle now has the tax list for District No 3 and is prepared to receive collections at the one per cent rate until October 26, after which a five per cent fee will be charged. Mrs. Elmora Sickler, collector, for Districts 4 and 13, will receive the tax moneys for the lower village at the minimum fee until October 17.

Captain Elliott Vanderwanter of Washington, D. C., who is connected with the army engineering service, called on some of his friends here recently. Captain Vanderwanter spent several weeks in the village last summer as a guest at the Shokan House.

The wells here are going dry at the rate of about one a day and many families are getting their water from a distance. Several of the most reliable springs, notably those on the Every, Giles and Van Steenburgh places, are holding out, and these have proved a great blessing in the present water supply shortage. The well at the Reformed Church parsonage is dry for the third successive autumn, while the emergency cistern installed there last year is also played out. The regular pastures have practically failed, making it necessary for farmers to pasture their hay fields and supplement this scanty supply with cornstalks roughage.

The work of widening the pavement of the north boulevard at Ashokan is continuing under the superintendency of Lefrand Bishop. This job is in the nature of a great improvement for the main street of the lower village.

Burtis Wheat and family last week moved into their newly erected residence at the corner of the mountain road and the north boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Wheat will be settled in their attractive new home in a few days, after which time they will be glad to welcome their many friends.

On September 26, 1899, Thomas Cobb, a well known resident of the Sand Hill section of Shokan, was found dead near his home. Funeral services for Mr. Cobb were held in the Shokan M. E. Church on the 28th. The Cobb homestead was situated a short distance north of Sand Hill Cemetery, at the junction of the hill road to Boiceville and the lane leading up to the Susan Eichler boarding house. The property is now included in the city's preserve.

Little Ann Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tyler, of the mountain road, celebrated her first birthday on September 22 with a lawn party on the Herschenroeder estate. The color scheme of the table decorations at the party was pastel shades. Delicious refreshments were served at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and a delightful time was had by all present. Little Miss Tyler's guests at this enjoyable affair were as follows: Dorothy Mahoney of Kingston; Barbara Brooks, New York city; Carmen Lopez, Marilyn Tyler, Master James Tyler, Mrs. Earl C. North, Jr., all of Shokan; Mrs. Edward Mahoney, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Green and daughter, Lillian, of Long Island, and Mrs. Barbara Brooks of New York city.

Paul C. James, who has been employed as a salesman at the corner store during the summer months, has secured a contract to cut the brush on the William Morrison property and otherwise improve the place. The Morrison farm, located north of the Traver Hollow bridge on the south boulevard, was formerly known as the Lambert place. The farm buildings have not been occupied during recent years and no farming operations have been carried on there for some time. Mr. James, who returned to Olive last spring after an absence of several years in Missouri, has had considerable experience in farm work, both in this state and in the middle west.

Add to local beauty spots the attractive display of zinnias in the front yard of The Cairngorm, Mrs. Jane Stubley's residence, in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. C. Longyear motored to Hullburn, Rockland county, last Saturday for the purpose of closing up their business affairs in that place. The Longyears, who have been spending the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Golden Van-Benschoten, plan to leave Shokan next week for their new home in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

On September 26, 1894, the funeral services for Benjamin Turner were held in the Shokan M. E. Church of which the deceased was a member. Mr. Turner, who died September 22, was a local attorney and counsellor at law. His residence in the old village adjoined that of Martin Schutt, a contemporary barrister who preceded Mr. Turner in death by several years. The Turner family originally settled in the Tongore section of Olive where they were numbered among the pioneer residents.

Miss Marjorie Davis has returned to her home in the lower village after spending several weeks at Phoenicia.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf and Mrs. Henry C. Elmendorf motored to Guilderland last Saturday and spent the week-end with Mr. Elmendorf's sister, Mrs. John Arnold, and family. The Arnolds operate a large farm in the fertile section lying between Albany and Schenectady.

Mrs. Lester Bell, formerly a well known resident of the West Shokan section, was a business caller in the village on Saturday. The bells have made their home in Phoenicia for many years.

The cool, pleasant weather of the past few days has brought many tourists to the Ashokan country with profitable results to stores and tourist homes.

Miss Josephine Hogan of Kingston was a caller at the home of Mrs. Julia Hogan last Saturday.

Claude Rose and son, Morris, are employed at the Winchell farm for a few days.

Frank James has added a Hudson sedan to his growing complement of conveyances. Mr. James also has one of the old reliable buckboard wagons which he plans to use when the winter weather gets too rough for automobile rolling.

Charles Green, local feed dealer, is demolishing the old stone wall at his hay field along the Ridge Road and is using the material for foundations and fill work at his farm in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharwell are returning to their home in Norfolk, Va., this week, after spending some time very pleasantly at the home of Mrs. Sharwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bell.

Mrs. S. H. Abkarian and Miss Dagmar Nelson have returned to their home in Pelham, after spending two weeks with friends in Shokan.

Tips on CONTRACT

By Tom O'Neil.

In efforts to make game at no trump the selection of a suit in which to take tricks with low cards is at times the factor determining success or failure.

Poor distribution or fortunate openings by adversaries defeat many a no-trump contract. Others are fulfilled after over-optimistic bidding because the declarer, deducing that success is possible only if adversaries hold certain cards, play on that assumption.

Game at no trump which could have been prevented was a help to Miss Florence Fitch and Mrs. Hilda Maud Zontlein in a sensational finish which carried them to the position of runners-up in women's pair event at the summer meeting of the American bridge league at Asbury Park, N. J.

Here was the hand:

NORTH (dealer and declarer)
♠ A 10 8 7 2
♥ Q
♦ A Q 10 7 4

WEST
♠ 9
♥ 9 8 6 5 4 2
♦ K J
♣ K 10 8 3

EAST
♠ K Q J
♥ K 3
♦ 8 6 3 2
♣ Q 9 7 2

SOUTH (dummy)
♠ 6 5 4 3
♥ A J 10 7
♦ 9 5
♣ J 6 4

Mrs. Zontlein opened the auction with one diamond and was overcalled by her partner with one no trump. The adversaries never bid. In response to the no trump Mrs. Zontlein offered two spades.

Miss Fitch, having bid the no trump as a denial of support in diamonds and as an indication that she lacked a biddable suit, was glad to show her preference between diamonds and spades by assisting the spades to three. Mrs. Zontlein, regarding her spade suit as anaemic, took the contract to three no trump.

A club opening by west would have beaten the hand, but the heart opening, the fourth best from six, seemed better to west when actually it was better for the declarer. Miss Fitch won the trick in her own hand, east having covered dummy's queen.

The declarer then took stock. There were nine spades in the combined contracting hands and seven diamonds. Possibly three tricks in spades might be taken by giving the first two leads of that suit to the adversaries. But such a line of play might be dangerous especially because the south hand lacked reentries, which were necessary for leads up to the diamond tenace.

She took the first three tricks with hearts and then finessed the queen of diamonds. When it succeeded she played the ace and ten of diamonds and then the four spot, which east took with the eight.

East then led a club. Dummy won with the ace, and played her last diamond, then the ace of spades, conceding the last three tricks (two spades and one club) to the adversaries.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 27 (AP).—Stocks wavered for a while at the start of trading today but later advanced moderately, under leadership of the rails and motors, in a quiet and largely professional market.

There were some soggy spots, but most of these were cared for when the general list turned upward. Drug dropped 6 points at one time, then steadied. Allied Chemical, Woolworth, Delaware & Hudson and Lehigh Valley were also under pressure at times, although Allied Chemical erased all of its early loss when directors declared the regular $1.50 quarterly dividend. Union Pacific converted an early loss of 1 point into a gain of nearly 2. Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Lackawanna, Illinois Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio gained 1 or more.

Special weakness of Drug, Inc., shares was attributed to the announcement that a reorganization would be asked for its subsidiary, the Louis K. Liggett, Co., in case the latter could not obtain concessions on its store leases. This statement, following the recent difficulties experienced over leases by the United Cigar Stores Co., drew some selling into the chain store stocks.

The extraordinary plethora of funds now available for high grade investment was again emphasized when it became known that the treasury had sold a 91-day issue of $100,665,000 bills at a price equivalent to an annual interest yield of less than ¼ of one percent—0.23 per cent to be exact. Several months ago, the treasury was obliged to pay 2 per cent per annum for such accommodation. Another incident illustrative of easy money conditions was the quick oversubscription today of a $60,000,000 issue of Dominion of Canada 4 per cent one-year notes, which were sold at par.

Says Some Cows Earn Their Grain

Many Ulster county dairymen are reducing the grain feeding of their cows because of the low milk prices, says Farm Bureau Agent Kurdt. Some dairymen have even gone so far as to stop feeding grain entirely.

"This plan of feeding no grain to the dairy herd has a number of disadvantages. In the first place, all cows are being treated alike, both good and poor. This is bad dairy practice, as some cows in the herd could use grain profitably if it was given to them. When no grain is fed to the whole herd, these profitable cows are treated unjustly. As for the poor cows in any herd, they do not need grain and it would be better still if they were eliminated from the herd.

"Another serious drawback to reduced grain feeding of high producing cows is that they will become thin and run down. It may be a year or more before these cows can be brought back to their normal production. On high producing cows the dairyman loses more in the end than he gains by the grain saved. He may save grain now, but it will take more grain later to bring the cows back into shape.

"In the grain feeding of cows many dairymen could save costly errors if they knew more about the milk and butterfat each cow gives. Records kept through the dairy record service of the Farm Bureau would show the cows which should be fed grain and which should not receive it. With records of production, many of the wastes of cow feeding can be eliminated," he said.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 27 (AP).—Hope for the recovery of Mrs. William E. Borah was increased here today by successive physicians' bulletins indicating she was slowly gaining in the struggle against psittacosis, or parrot fever.

Improvement was noted throughout yesterday and at midnight Dr. Ralph Falk reported she had maintained her gains against the disease though her heart muscles still were weak.

She had cast off the periodic near coma, physicians said, and readily recognized those attending her. Rose buds sent from the White House in Washington brightened the hospital room in which she has been confined eleven days.

HIGH COST OF RACKETS

It takes four elements to make the true racket, says Gordon I. Hofstetter, executive director of the Employers' Association of Chicago. They are:

First: The business man, business group or association of business men.

Second: The leaders of organized labor.

Third: The criminal underworld.

Fourth: The politician.

He does not indict all business men, labor leaders and politicians, by any means. There are high ethical standards in those groups which many men follow. Unfortunately there are also racketeers among them, and it is of these he speaks. The racketeering business man is after special advantages for himself. He embarrasses or terrorizes his competitors to get them to abide by his racket rules. He tries to dictate the enactment or application of laws that govern his business, and often he succeeds. The racketeering labor leader seeks a monopoly control over the workmen of a given trade, with all the power and financial benefit that can bring him. The racketeering politician does his part by paralyzing the hands of the law. The criminal does the heavy villainy—bombing, slugging, committing arson, terrorizing, and so on.

The activities of that combination, Mr. Hofstetter says, costs Chicago yearly an extortion toll equal to the cost of the entire government of the city. Other cities of the country suffer from the same blight. It is a phase of modern life which calls for prompt action to root it out. Supporting racketeers is one expense a competent, enlightened community would eliminate.

SELF-SUFFICIENT FARMING

Dr. Alvin Johnson, director of Yale's School of Social Research, has a plan for saving the American farmer. He tells of it in an article on "Relief From Farm Relief" in the Yale Review.

The main idea is self-sufficiency through co-operation in farm communities. Such communities would produce their own food and other necessities. They would be able to withhold any given product from a depressed market until prices were readjusted. His plan is not at all the Russian collectivized farm, which he considers too big to be long effective. Neither does he want the individual farm to be self-sufficient. A small group of farmers, working together, is the ideal arrangement he advocates.

If the farmer is to exhibit any elasticity in production, it must be on the basis of self-sufficiency which enables him to stay off the market without disaster. In our American scheme, this self-sufficiency has been gravely sapped away. A third of our farmers keep no cows. They depend on the market for milk and other dairy products, or go without. More than a third have no vegetable gardens worth mentioning. The majority are unable to cure meat successfully.

So his indictment goes on. He regrets that they no longer weave and make their own clothes or hew their own beams. He would have a self-sufficient community do most of these things for itself. There seem to be more ideas floating around about what farmers should do than there are about what industrial workers should do. Perhaps if agriculture's problems were all solved, other problems of the day would find themselves solved, too.

NOW THE ESCAPE COMPLEX

The worst thing about modern psychology is the way its technical terms spill over into every-day life and are applied to a lot of commonplace matters in ways that suggest loose screws or thwarted lives or other unpleasant conditions. There is the word "escape." How many times in recent months have the knowing ones here and there reported that users of public libraries are turning eagerly to "escape" books to get their minds off the depression and the personal problems it has imposed on them?

What are "escape" books? Nothing more than novels, thrilling yarns, detective stories, the same sort of books of romance and adventure that readers have enjoyed for many years before they ever heard of "escape literature" and will enjoy for many years after a new term has been thought up and applied. Why make us self-conscious about our enjoyment of them? And why not go the rest of the way and call all our amusements the theatre, the movie, music, games, etc., escape activities? It would be great if we could escape the jargon of the psychologists.

The opening of the hunting season brings the usual accidents. It seems to make no difference whether the hunters are after big game or small, the casualties among their ranks numbers are heavy. Guns go off unexpectedly. Hunters are mistaken for deer or rabbits or ducks. No individual hunter ever expects to be killed or to have his foot shot off. Enjoying the sport, doubtless he would point out to any who tried to warn him that it is just as easy to get oneself killed or maimed walking along a city street or falling down the cellar stairs at home. Nevertheless, the annual toll of amateur hunters makes tragic reading. Hunting with cameras, though less thrilling, seems a lot safer for everybody concerned.

THE CROSS-EYED CHILD.

One of the defects often seen in former years was cross-eyes. Although it occurs just as often as it ever did, there are not so many cases seen now.

Why?

Because parents and physicians make it their business to have the condition corrected.

Dr. Oscar Wilkinson of Washington, D. C., tells us that the reason cross-eye is sometimes neglected is that parents have the idea that it is a simple thing which the child will outgrow. (It is not). That the operation to cure cross-eye is the small matter of "snipping a little muscle." (It is by no means a simple matter). That the operation for the cure of cross-eye cannot be performed until the patient has reached the age of fourteen. (When operation is necessary, the sooner it is done the better.) That the repeated change of glasses will cure nearly every case. (It will not.) That cross-eye does the child no harm. (It does. It usually causes the loss of vision of that eye and produces a hideous deformity which cases the child to develop an inferiority complex and is a distinct economic handicap.

His suggestions are:

The sooner cross-eye is treated, the more certainly it will be cured.

The majority of cases of cross-eye can be easily cured if treated very early, and very definitely.

A cross-eye is often difficult, and may be impossible to cure, if neglected or improperly treated.

To neglect a cross-eye usually causes the loss of vision of that eye.

If proper glasses do not cure crossed-eyes in a few months, they will never cure them. If glasses and the proper treatment do not relieve the cross-eye in six months the patient should be operated upon, no matter what the age.

Every cross-eyed child in school is a neglected child; timid and shy.

The thought then is that in every case of cross-eye the parents should ask their family physician to have a consultation with an eye specialist.

Whether the specialist and your family physician follow all the suggestions above is not the important point. The important point is that the cross-eyed child should be seen early by an eye specialist.

First Railroad Whistle

On July 17, 1832, the first train was run on the Leicester and Swannington railway, and the management, realizing that there was no warning other than the old conch horn available, ordered a Leicester musical instrument-maker to make a steam trumpet to be worked from the boiler. He improvised a whistle and the design has been changed very little since then.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: Evidence Female drags a net of circumstantial evidence about Robert Leonard, accusing him and the mysterious "Mr. Smith" of murder, which have threatened Jervis Weyers, his fiancée, with shocking actions to doubt Jervis with Leonard, and demands that Ferdinand prove a motive. Ferdinand demurringly reports that Leonard attempts to see the Weyers estate. Ferdinand, Leonard, Jervis, and Rosamond dine together.

Chapter 22

JERVIS GETS A JOLT

"THERE you have it," said Ferdinand. He swung round in his chair and addressed Nan:

"What a girl Sam Leonard's married!" he added.

Nan rose with a jerk to her feet. She stood with one hand just touching the table and looked across the grapes and oranges at the two men. Her eyes snapped and her voice was almost with tension:

"Jervis won't listen to either of us. He doesn't want to hear anything against Leonard. Perhaps he thinks you loosened the wire so we'd all die together. Or I do you think I had a wrench in my pocket one this afternoon, Jervis?"

"Somebody's trying to kill you. If it's not Leonard then it must be Ferdinand or I. Don't you know there's something between Leonard and Rosamund? I don't know what it is but I've known it was something since the other night at the hotel.

"Why didn't Rosamund marry you? She wouldn't tell, would she? You should have asked Robert Leonard."

She stopped speaking, bending over the table with her flashing eyes on Jervis. Suddenly he flung out of his chair, strode to the door, and opened it. Then he stood back, holding it conventionally.

Jervis came back to the table.

"We'd better shift out of here, or Monk will be coming in. Come into the study."

He did not speak until they were shut in together. Then he walked to the window, which was open towards the sunset, frowned at the blue and golden sky without seeing it, turned round, and said,

"What's behind all this?"

Ferdinand sat on the arm of a shabby leather chair.

"Robert," he replied succinctly.

"Damn Robert!"

"Well, that's not my business."

"Look here, F. F.—" He broke off. "There are things I can't say, even to you." He walked to the end of the room and back again. "That business ten years ago—you say Leonard was seen coming from the place where I'd fallen?"

"Well, I didn't say fallen. It's my belief he laid you out."

"And left me to drown?"

"You've said it."

"What grounds have you—"

"I'm going to tell you, because I think it's about time you knew."

"How long have you known?"

"For about a week."

"Well, what is it?"

"It's a very curious thing. The child who saved your life by holding you up in that pool when you were unconscious—well, she just happened to have seen Robert coming away after he'd laid you out."

"What did she see?"

"She saw you go around behind the rocks, and she saw Robert come down the cliff close beside her. He didn't see her. He went after you, and by and by she saw him again walking away. That's why she knew his back view when she saw it again—it's peculiar, you know, the way he walks with that big head of his pushed forward. He went up the next path on to the cliff, and when she got worried about your not coming back, she went behind the rocks and found you lying in the pool with a hole in the back of your head."

"This is very convincing—ten years after!" Jervis laughed. "I could make up a better yarn than that if I'd ten years to do it in!"

"There's no one making up a yarn."

"Why didn't she say all this at the time?"

"She was down at Croyston with some kind of an aunt, and they were leaving that afternoon. She was late for the train and soaked through, and the aunt punished her. And when they got back to where they lived, the poor child was in a fever and ailed for weeks."

"And you met her again?"

"Last week."

Jervis paused. The room filled with silence. Ferdinand did not break it. He kept his bright dancing eyes on Jervis' face and saw the color rise in it to the roots of the black hair.

Jervis said, "Nonsense!" sharply.

"Have it your own way."

"What are you talking about?"

"Nan," said Mr. Francis.

Jervis made a step towards him.

"If you're fooling—"

"I'm not."

"Nan!" said Jervis. "You mean it was Nan?"

"I recognized her at once. When I saw the scar on her arm, that clinched it. I've told you about that before. She'd cut herself pretty well to the bone holding your head off the rocks every time a wave came into that pool. It was her arm or your head. And she made it her arm every time. There was bound to be a scar, and when I saw that scar on your wife's arm at the Luxe, I thought I'd stumbled upon a very pretty romance."

Jervis stood for a moment with a perfectly blank face. Behind it his mind, like a shuttered room, was being violently shaken as if by an earthquake. His thoughts slid together, collided, broke.

With a violent effort he turned about and walked to the window. The sun was gone; a kind of golden haze tinged the dusk. There was no wind at all; each tree and bush stood up dark and solemn without the slightest movement. The whole scene might have been painted on glass. The contrast between its stillness and the turbulent confusion of his thoughts gave him a sense of being in some remote and unfamiliar place.

He did not know how long he stood there. The gold went out of the air and left it yet more gravely still. A very faint green light came from the horizon. This too faded. An impalpable stream of darkness flowed between him and all the world.

Suddenly he crossed to the door and switched on the light. The room had been quite dark. As the light came on, the windows seemed to recede. All the shades and degrees of the outside darkness vanished. The straight crimson curtains framed blank, black windows.

Ferdinand had not moved. He was sitting on the arm of one of the big chairs with his hands in his pockets.

"You're sure it was Nan?"

"Quite," F. F. answered.

"She told you so?"

"No, she did not. I recognized her. And then, when we were at dinner, I told the story of the plucky kid who saved your life, and I watched her. I could see she didn't want you to know. I'm an inquisitive man and, though I'd like to get to the bottom of why you didn't know and why she didn't want you to know, I haven't got to the bottom of it yet." Those bright, yellow-brown eyes of his twinkled with questions. He crossed one leg over the other and leaned sideways against the back of the chair. "Well?" he said.

Jervis stood by the jamb of the door. He looked at a bare, blank window and spoke.

"Did she know—when she married me?"

Ferdinand twinkled more noticeably.

"What do you think?"

Jervis made a gesture. There was no expression on his face.

"Why not ask her?" suggested Ferdinand.

"I'm asking you," said Jervis. "You seem to be well behind the scenes. Did she know when she married me—or did she find out afterwards?"

"Know? Of course she knew! Why do you suppose she married you?"

Jervis set his jaw and was silent.

"Better ask her!" said Ferdinand with a short laugh.

Jervis turned abruptly, flung open the door, and went out. Ferdinand watched him with a quizzical smile. He went impetuously through the hall and out at the front door, shutting it hard behind him.

AGRIGRAPHS.

Nearly seventy-five per cent of the horses used for farm work in New York state are shipped in from other states.

Uncle Ab says that the main trouble with any five-year plan is that it is about five times too short.

Feed the pullets wet mash at least once a day in addition to having dry mash in the feed hoppers when they start to lay.

Five hours' labor and 1½ gallons of sodium arsenite solution were used to kill 504 clumps of thorn apples with 1,500 individual stems in a Livingston county demonstration.

By actual count in 100 New York potato fields, seven per cent of the potatoes were bruised, three per cent skinned, and two per cent were cut in digging. Padding, regulated elevator chains, and deeper digging cuts such losses.

Fruit growers who plan to store apples this season may find suggestions about temperature, moisture, ventilation, grading and other storage essentials in the free Cornell bulletin E 139. Ask the office of publication at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., for it and also for a copy of E-47, the list of available publications from the college of agriculture, the Cornell University experiment station, and the extension service.

Large Silver Nuggets

The Smithsonian Institution says that silver does not commonly occur in nuggets and it has no definite information regarding the largest lump, or nugget, ever found. There is one large mass of 5 hundredweight which was found in Norway and one of 6 hundredweight in Peru and one mass in the Cobalt district of Canada which weighed 1,000 pounds.

Emperor Disliked Versailles

Napoleon left the least trace of himself and of his power at Versailles than at any of the other royal palaces. It is reported that for some reason or other, perhaps because of his femininity, he didn't like the place.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—

by John Hix

Once a semi-pro baseball player around his home town sandlots, Michael J. Flanagan of Bridgeport, Conn., gave up baseball in his youth to become an attorney—and in so doing paved the way for his becoming one of the outstanding baseball champions. He is a champion baseball fan: he holds a record of having witnessed every game of every world series since 1903.

When the championship playoff rolls around, Attorney Flanagan gives up his duties as clerk of the Superior Court in Bridgeport, and goes wherever the teams go. He has become one of the traditions of world series play, and in the 1931 series was a guest of Connie Mack, riding on the Athletics' special train back and forth between St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Mr. Flanagan owns one of the most complete private baseball libraries in the nation. He values it so highly that it is kept safely under lock and key at the Fairfield County courthouse. His reason for following baseball so closely for many years: he was in the game himself.

On Thursday, September 29, the Ulster County Dairymen's League annual clambake will take place in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall for the benefit of Modena M. E. Church. Any help at this time will be greatly appreciated.

Communion services will be observed Sunday, October 2, at 11 o'clock.

Sunday, October 9, there will be a special Rally Day and Harvest Home Festival service. Friends are invited to bring fruits, vegetables, canned goods, or flowers, all of which will be sent to the Five Points Mission at 69 Madison street, New York city. Dr. George W. Grinton is superintendent and pastor. A voucher will be given as credit for the church for all goods and money given. The regular church envelopes will also be received and credited on the records.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paltridge attended the regular meeting of Plattekill Grange, Saturday evening. At this meeting an old fashioned style show was the main feature of the evening. Some very old garments were worn by the committee in charge. A number of the garments were 100 years old. One particularly old gown was 175 years old. One of the committee displayed an old quilt made over 100 years ago.

Miss Emma Palmer is chairman of the clambake committee which will serve the bake in Modena Hall on Thursday of this week.

Eugene Paltridge is chairman of the fruit exhibit committee at the Grange fair which will take place Friday evening, September 30, at the Grange Hall in Marlboro.

George H. Richardson of New York city spent the week-end with his family near here.

Special School Meeting

There will be a special meeting held Friday evening, September 30, at 7:30 o'clock at the Rock & Wall district No. 5 school house. No. 5 voters for the purpose of voting on the question of new text books for the pupils. The meeting of September 23 was well attended.

COAL DISCOUNT ANNOUNCEMENT

The approach of cold weather brings the matter of heating the home into great importance. The household budget will soon be called upon to provide for an additional burden that was not present during the warm Summer months. How to arrange for this will be a problem of many families.

WE STAND READY TO HELP YOU KEEP YOUR HOME WARM THIS WINTER AND SAVE YOU 80 CENTS A TON ON YOUR FULL REQUIREMENTS PURCHASED FROM THIS TIME UNTIL NEXT APRIL.

Instead of filling your bins—which would necessitate the payment of a considerable amount within 30 days in order to earn the 80 cents a ton discount—we stand ready to spread deliveries over the Winter to permit you to take your coal in such amounts as you can conveniently pay for before the discount period expires.

Of course, this puts an added burden on us, for we will have to make more trips to your home, but we are willing to assume this expense as our contribution to help you meet the abnormal conditions now prevailing.

In order to make this plan possible, we are not able to grant credit beyond thirty days in any case; therefore, at the time you place your order, tell your coal dealer to deliver such an amount as you can conveniently pay for in 30 days.

VITAMIN B IN BRAN, RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings a plentiful supply of "bulk"—which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by ALL-BRAN is iron. Tests show this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of beef liver.

Check common constipation—with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy—by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasanter than taking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Plan "Hoover Day" Card Party Oct. 7

Friday, October 7, is "Hoover Day," and the ladies of Kingston are preparing to celebrate it with a big card party at the Governor Clinton Hotel. From the way tickets are selling the party will be an outstanding success. In addition to the games, which will start promptly at 2 o'clock, refreshments will be served.

A request is made that those who have taken tickets to sell will make their returns to the person from whom they secured the tickets, not later than October 3.

A feature of the afternoon will be a radio address, at 3:30. The name of the speaker has not been given out, but it is stated that he will be a noted one and it is even hinted that President Hoover himself may be heard.

Plans as given out provide that the ladies assembling tables shall furnish their own cards, pencils, tallies and scores.

NEW MEXICO HOST TO GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt Special en route to Colorado Springs, Sept. 27 (AP).—New Mexico, the earliest-settled of the states of the Union and the smallest in population he will visit on this campaign trip, today was host to the Democratic presidential nominee, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

Swinging east from Williams, Ariz., where he stopped yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt was to receive New Mexico's official welcome at Lamy Junction, a few miles from the old capital city, Santa Fe.

At Albuquerque, Governor Arthur Seligman, United States Senator Samuel Bratton and the state's lone congressman, Dennis Chavez, all Democrats, were to board the train and continue on to Lamy where the delegates to the party's state convention will be gathered.

The convention meeting at Santa Fe will recess to meet Gov. Roosevelt.

New Mexico's other United States senator, Bronson Cutting, an independent Republican, has been identified in the Senate with the group of which Senator George Norris of Nebraska is a leader. Senator Norris is suporting Roosevelt, and on Wednesday will meet the governor at McCook, Neb.

New Mexico, the sixteenth state the candidate has visited, voted for Woodrow Wilson in 1912 and 1916, but in 1920, 1924 and 1928 it was in the Republican column on presidential elections.

W. W. VAN KEUREN FACES PEACE JUSTICE

W. W. Van Keuren of the town of Ulster was arraigned before Justice Richard Mooney at Eddyville Monday on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Robert LaBarge of Sunset Park. La Barge charged Van Keuren with having called him names and using improper language. The acts complained of were alleged to have taken place one day the past week near Van Keuren's residence on the Saugerties road. Judge Mooney directed the defendant to give a peace bond of $100, which he did.

MYSTERY MESSAGES TELL OF LOST FLIERS

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 27 (AP).—Radio messages of mysterious origin, reported by an amateur radio operator, today told of hearing from the missing Japanese goodwill fliers late Sunday afternoon, some 24 hours after they should have landed at Nome, Alaska.

The calls came presumably from a vessel in the Pacific. William G. Gunston, Tacoma amateur, said he first heard the messages late yesterday afternoon and more faintly late last night. All, he said, were garbled in transmission.

He said the first and plainest read:

"Japanese airmen heard from this ship at 1615 (4:15 p. m.) Sept. 25th. Location of airmen not given."

Gunston reported receiving the call letters "HFK" on 51½ meters, the call coming to all stations.

International radio call listings do not give "HFK" and if it was a ship at sea, marine radio operators suggested Gunston lost out on a letter of the call as all have four letters. The amateur said he was able to distinguish only the first four letters of the calling ship. They were "Geom."

The Coast Guard notified its Bering Sea patrol to be on the alert for the messages.

ROCKEFELLER'S BIRTHPLACE SOLD FOR UNPAID TAXES

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP).—The birthplace of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., a 54 acre farm on Michigan Hill in the town of Richford, Tioga county, has been sold for unpaid taxes.

Because the owner, Harry D. Shea of Brooklyn, failed to pay a delinquent fee of $47.25, the property was sold Saturday at the annual Tioga county tax sale in Owego. As there were no bidders the county assumed title of the farm.

Mrs. Carrie Rockefeller of Harford Mills, a cousin of the oil magnate, sold the farm to Mrs. Sarah S. Dennen of Brooklyn in July 1928. Later it was transferred to Mr. Shea. In 1930 Mrs. Dennen had the farm house in which Mr. Rockefeller was born dismantled preparatory to having it removed to Coney Island for exhibition purposes. This plan was never consummated and it is believed now that the old farm house parts are stored in Binghamton warehouses.

ECONOMY AND SPEED MOTTO OF HOUSE GROUP

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP).—Economy and expedition were goals set today by Chairman Byrns of the House appropriations committee in the handling of big government supply bills during the coming session of Congress.

As head of the powerful group that formulates the appropriation measures, Byrns said every effort would be made to cut government expenditures and thereby reduce the treasury deficit. In addition, at least three of the bills are to be ready for immemdiate consideration when Congress convenes for the short session.

"Much important legislation will have to be considered by the coming Congress," the Tennessee Democrat said. "In order to clear the way for the other legislation, the appropriations committee will begin hearings about the middle of November on the treasury and post office $1,000,000,000 bill, the agriculture and the Interior Department measures."

MAHATMA GANDHI REPORTED PROGRESSING FAVORABLY

Poona, India, Sept. 27 (AP).—Mahatma Gandhi was progressing favorably today, his physicians said, after breaking his "death fast" yesterday.

His diet today consisted of grapefruit juice and sugar, and tomorrow he was expected to be able to take some barley water and milk whey.

He was visited in his quarters at Yeroda jail this morning by the noted Indian poet, Rabindranath Tagore, Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, and several other prominent Indian leaders.

This was the Mahatma's 63rd birthday, according to the Hindu calendar, but there was no special observance here.

This evening he said he would endorse "any worthy suggestion for cooperation by the national congress with the government and the round table conference." When the time comes he said, he will throw his whole weight to support such cooperation.

JACKSON BARNETT'S FIGHT ON AGAIN

Los Angeles, Sept. 27 (AP).—A 90-year-old Creek Indian, Jackson Barnett, who signs checks for thousands of dollars with a thumb print, today was involved in another legal fight over his wealth, derived from Oklahoma oil lands.

Barnett was in court with his wife, Mrs. Anna Laura Lowe Barnett, as a result of the United States government's effort to force restoration of $1,000,000 to the Indian's estate. Of the amount $550,000 allegedly was given by Barnett to his wife.

When Barnett, adjudged an incompetent several years ago, appeared bewildered at the proceedings in the United States commissioner's court, Mrs. Barnett was defiant and once marched her husband out of the court room.

CURTIS CONTINUES DRIVE THROUGH WEST VIRGINIA

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 27 (AP)—Vice President Charles Curtis continued his campaign through West Virginia today by attending a rally at Point Pleasant, and dedication of a lock in the Kanawha river at Market. He will address a meeting in Charleston before returning to the west.

He opened the party election drive here last night with a vigorous address in which he praised President Hoover as doing ten times as much to relieve economic distress as any of his predecessors who faced peacetime suffering.

WILL NOT ATTEMPT TO REOPEN MINES NOW

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27 (AP).—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America said today no further attempts to reopen the mines will be made "until the situation changes" in this section, where rival factions of coal diggers recently clashed.

Twenty-five members of the United Mine Workers of America, including organizers and officials, were at Liberty today on bonds of $1,000 each pending grand jury action on charges of inciting riots. The miners were arrested Sunday night following the street riot in which a policeman was killed, two miners seriously injured, and a score more cut and bruised.

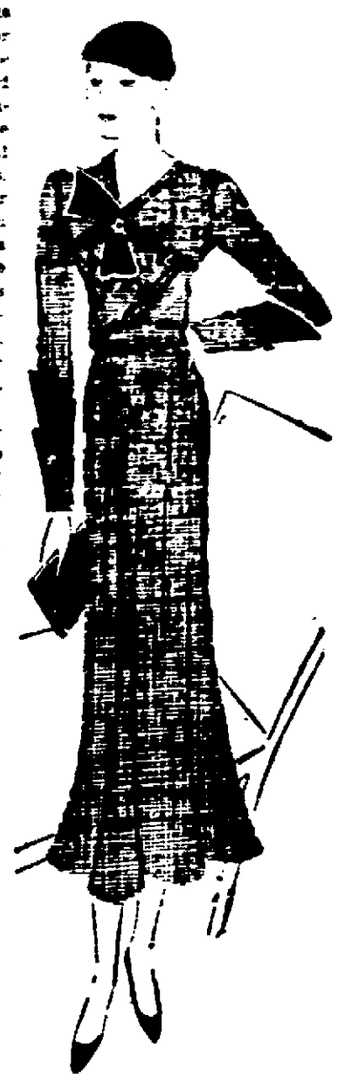
Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Rough or Smooth Fabrics Must Be "Different"

A CHEURIT MODEL



New York—Paris does have a way with them this season. They are so interesting in the materials that one is inclined to pass over the color or even the manner in which they are used. Ribbed and corded, pebbled and roughened surfaces are seasonable and whether silk or wool are liked better—with a few of the usual exceptions of entirely smooth ones.

Velvet is not the exception either for all manner of things have been happening to velvet. It is worn in all its forms and promises to be the season's pet fabric whether for dress or hats. One must not forget broadcloth. It is one of the exceptions, broadcloth being smooth, as broadcloth only can be. It is much in use, and by milliners, too.

The frock sketched, which is labeled Cheurit is, however, one of the rougher woolens and in a lovely "you're the cream of my coffee" color trimmed with brown Ottoman. Just in case you were too young to know what Ottoman was when it was used before, it may be well to mention that it is a heavily ribbed silk.

Of course, unless you have been wearing blinders or smoked glasses you know that wine reds, or beetroot if you dislike to even think of wine as a color, have started off the season at a furious pace. For this season the wise ones seem to feel that they will be eventually outdistanced by browns or by brighter reds. Of course, there is rust, and it is lovely, very flattering, too, don't you think?

Blues are suffering a set back, and purples and many fruity shades are gaining. One usually finds a place in one's wardrobe for a beige frock. This season there is a place for a putty colored one, called caviar by way of change.

It remains to be seen whether two tones will continue to be better than one all season. Certainly they now are. Even when one of the "tones" is either black or white. This reminds me to remind you that black and white was never a better bet than right this minute.

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

Tete de Negre Ottoman trims this neat little frock of cafe au lait wool satin. The buttons are beige and brown.

Seven Veils—and More

Paris has avowed her interest in veils. Maria Guny's waistlength veil is one novelty which should be interesting. This is the veil which has a border across the top designed to be worn across the brow, with the actual veil hanging down to the waistline in front—a high novelty. Talbot's shaped veils, shortened at the sides, which definitely contribute to the decoration and styling of the hat.

The Tailored Robe—The Skirt-back Pajama

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

A tailored unlined robe of checked cumtch in black and red is accented with patch pockets and sash belt.

A formal pajama uses blue transparent velvet for the brief surplice jacket, which crosses and ties, and pink satin for the pajama, which has a skirt back with train.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The satin-faced jersey which Schiaparelli employed in an evening gown is attracting favorable high style interest in New York.

The three-quarter evening wrap is also regarded as important this season, fitted through the waistline and generally through the hips as well.

The use of buttons as hat trimming is recurrent and varied, from nine self-covered broadcloth buttons which mark a cuff brim to one or two polished metal ball buttons variously disposed.

Famous Writer's Home

The home of Sir Walter Scott, the novelist, stands on the south bank of the Tweed, two miles west of Melrose, so named because the abbots of Melrose forded the Tweed at this spot. It has become a veritable museum of historical curios and personal relics of the great Scottish writer and is visited by many "Scott lovers" every summer.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Distinctive Style.

7622. The raised waistline is cleverly expressed in this model—while a new sleeve—and attractive shaping add to the charm of a very pleasing silhouette. The sleeve may be finished with wrist length fitted portion below the puff as in the large view, or with the puff alone as in the small view. Narrow lapels outline a vestee that may be of lace or net. Printed silk in black or white or crepe in the new wine colors or in brown tones would be nice for this model.

Designed in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 38 will require 4 yards of 35 inch material, if made with long sleeves. With puff sleeve 3¾ yards will be required. The vestee of lace will require a piece 12 x 12 inches. The width of the Dress at the lower edge is 2¾ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press

Corvallis, Ore.—To avoid accidents, the state board of education issued a decree against student-operated automobiles. Two parties of Oregon students, not to be outdone, hired a couple of "hacks". They met on a street and raced. One of the horses shied and there was a crash. Two co-eds were injured.

New York—With fall in the air, the department of agriculture has been counting turkeys. It reported the number available for Thanksgiving will be 31 per cent greater than last year. They'll also be cheaper.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—There has been an epidemic of dog poisoning here recently. Children whose pets died paraded the streets in protest.

New York—David Goldstein charged Aaron Heitz five cents admission to his exhibition of "world wonders" at Coney Island. Aaron Heitz paid, but later complained the price was too high. He was thrown out. A magistrate held Goldstein in $100 bail on a charge of assault.

Trenton, N. J.—William S. Gilbert wants to save the state some money. He wrote Governor Moore he would serve as the state's executioner for $300 a year. He estimated the present executioner receives $175 for each execution.

IT isn't really necessary to endure rust in the family hot water supply. The hot water from your faucets can be clean enough and clear enough for cooking. Changes in piping may not be necessary to get this result. The answer lies in the hot water heater itself.

Modern automatic water-heaters, with tanks of copper or other non-rusting metals may be bought for lower prices now than ever before—about the same price that the cheapest automatic heaters cost two years ago. Since heat increases rusting, the best place to stop corrosion is at the source. In still another way, automatic water-heating lessens rusting. Temperatures are regulated to avoid over-heating, and there is less rust in the pipes themselves on this account.

Freedom from rust, important as it is, is one of the least of the pleasures from automatic water-heating. Deep, comfortable baths the minute you want them; dishes cleaned quickly, rinsed hot and dried without wiping; many housecleaning jobs shortened and made easier — all these follow. The cost is only a few pennies per day, less per gallon of water heated than with any other method.

Gusts of Wind....At least the depression has taught many men and women real respect for a job....Long shots are like prohibition—they make the joints harder to find....Every time another "war" debt a lot of husbands would like to see cancelled....Beware of the man who finds it necessary to boast of his honesty....The family meals once were opened with a prayer, but now a can opener is used....A dollar may go further, but it doesn't come back as often....There is little economy in buying things you don't need no matter how cheap....There is this to say for your enemies. Noah—It floats.

"Scientists say that the brain is run by electricity" so reads the headline in a recent newspaper. Which probably accounts for so many people being light in the dome.

Mormon Legend

Lehi, according to the Book of Mormon history, was the leader of a colony of Israelites who left Jerusalem about 600 B. C., and after much journeying reached the western shores of South America. Their descendants, the legend sets forth, spread up into North America. From these Israelitish people the American Indians are descended.—Detroit News.

COMING EVENTS ON THE RADIO

A new scoop has been scored by the sponsors of Ben Bernie's radio program. They have arranged to have appear before the microphone, over the WEAF network of the National Broadcasting Company at 9 o'clock this evening, Joe McCarthy, Manager of the American League pennant winning New York Yankees, and Charlie Grimm, Manager and first baseman of the National League pennant winning Chicago Cubs. The managers will be interviewed by Hal Totten and many interesting side-lights on the World Series are expected to be told. This represents the first time in the history of baseball or radio when rival World Series managers have appeared on a network program the evening before the start of the World Series.

The Women's Missionary Society realized about $25 from its luncheon served last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Birdsall Taber. About 65 people were served. Members of all the five churches, Presbyterian, Methodists, Episcopal, Friends and St. James attended the luncheon.

Frank Mandy has been buying crops of Greening and McIntosh apples from a number of growers around Milton, Highland, Marlborough the past week. He will pack and ship the fruit to the city markets. At Highland he bought the crop of Greenings and a part of McIntosh from G. Martin and all of the Greenings from Frank Zimmello. At Milton he took the McIntosh crop from the Mahoney sisters' orchards, about 150 bushels, the McIntosh crop from Mrs. Chester Fisher and part of the crop of James Dowd.

Miss Mary J. Shaughness and Miss Margarette Reynolds of Poughkeepsie attended the Storm King Kennel Dog Show at Cornwall recently. Miss Shaughness exhibited her Russian wolf hound puppy, Petro Zohrus du Zwanhoeoff, who won first prize. Miss Shaughness next plans to exhibit her puppy at the Tuxedo Park Dog Show.

Needlework in Education

Mary, wife of William of Orange, being really fond of needlework, did much to give the stamp of royal approval to the occupation. It was of course taken up by the ladies of the court and the daughters of noblemen as a matter of policy. But it really amounted to more than a pastime. It became a part of a young lady's education.

Max Scores Technical Kayo Over Walker In 8th

By EDWARD J. NEIL

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—The fight game, a bit frost bitten about the ears, gladly bundled up its outdoors season paraphernalia today, left the heavyweight question for Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey to settle next summer, and settled down to discussions around the winter cracker barrel of one of the most stirring and unusual heavyweight battles of modern history.

Back in the middleweight division, by his own consent, went Mickey Walker, still claiming championship there with the plaudits of 20,000 of the faithful still ringing in his ears, as game a little fellow as ever stepped out of his class to take crushing defeat manfully until there was not another breath of resistance left in him.

For Max Schmeling, conqueror of the doughty little Irishman in eight rounds in the 1472 closing show at the Madison Square Garden bowl, there was nothing left this year but a jaunt back to Germany, a rest for a few months, and then return to resume his feud when summer is blooming again with his conqueror for the heavyweight title, Jack Sharkey.

For a while last night, as the big crowd huddled in topcoats and furs under a sudden blast of almost wintry winds, it seemed that Walker, and not the even gaited German, was to cap a glamorous career with a stunning upset victory, and win the right to challenge Sharkey in Schmeling's place.

But in the eighth round the lightning in the black-browed Teuton struck Walker with full force. A right uppercut closed Mickey's left eye, blinded him. The crushing power in Schmeling's fists blasted Walker from one side of the ring to the other, floored him for counts of six and nine, left him rubber-legged, bleeding, helpless when the bell rang.

Kearns Stops Scrap

Without waiting for Referee Jack Denning's interference, Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, leaped into the ring and claimed what was left of his gallant little warrior. He refused to let Mickey go further, would not let the seconds in the corner attempt to patch the little Irishman's wounds.

There was nothing for Referee Jack Denning to do but award the decision to Schmeling on a technical knockout.

Although the bout actually ended in the minute rest between the eighth and ninth rounds, it will go down in ring history as a technical knockout for Schmeling in the eighth.

Ring custom takes this precedent from the day Jess Willard refused to get up from his chair to resume defense of his heavyweight title for the fourth round against Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey, that steaming fourth of July in 1919, won his title on a technical knockout in three rounds.

Mickey Down In First.

Almost under the opening gun, Walker, pug-nosed little veteran scaling but 174½ pounds, bumped full into Schmeling's numbing right hand and was floored for a count of six. The warriors were scarcely warmed up. It seemed as though the chief entertainment of the evening would be of the briefest kind. The Irish in the house turned their heads.

But back from that inauspicious start came a roaring Walker to fight his way through a numbing barrage in the second round and rally valoriously with thumping left hooks to the body at the close. On through the third he came, gaining his first advantage as he stormed into the complacent German, ripping away to the body at close quarters, slipping under Schmeling's darting right hand.

Max Gasps.

It seemed almost unbelievable that a little man, conceding 14 pounds in weight and every physical advantage, could stage the rally Walker did. He completely befuddled Schmeling as he pounded out a clear margin through the fourth and fifth rounds, almost sinking the surprised German in the fifth with a left hook to the body that doubled Max and left him gasping.

Schmeling, driven to desperate means, took the offensive in the sixth and turned the battle his way. He cut Mickey's lip with a right hand smash. Mickey seemed tired. Again it seemed as though the end were coming.

But there was one more rally left in the little Irishman to delight the $175,000 worth of customers. With astonishing ease Mickey belted the former heavyweight champion about the ring in the seventh, forcing him to cover, slinging him with body smashes, clouting his head with uppercuts and hooks. It gave him four of the first seven rounds.

It was the last gasp, however.

Walker Talks.

"It was just a light right uppercut that started it all in the eighth," Mickey said afterward as he sat on his dressing table, battered and bruised.

"But it nicked my left eyebrow. I thought I was cut. I hoped it was just a cut. But the first thing I know my eye was closed tight. I could see three Schmelings in front of me. I couldn't hit any one of them and they were all hitting me."

He shook his head philosophically and what there was left of his maimed features twisted into a grin.

"That's what you get," he said, "for being a prize fighter."

Maroon Has Two Weeks' Layoff

There is a period of two weeks before Kingston High plays its next game, and that game will be with Schenectady on the Kingston Fair Grounds, Saturday, October 8. This will be a rather difficult assignment and Kingston will receive its first severe test of the year, which will probably be a good indication as to what can be expected further on in the season.

There was no practice yesterday but starting this afternoon Coach Kias will begin his ironing out program. "We built the frame now we have to finish it," said Coach Kias yesterday afternoon in the gym. Continuing he said, "the game with Monticello was unexpected, that is, we didn't plan on starting so early in the season and consequently the signals were thrown at the boys all at once. Our job now is to try to perfect them."

So this week will be spent in telling the boys where they were wrong and drilling them until they have the rough edges worn off. There were also many mistakes that the boys shouldn't have made, for which inexperience may be blamed. Monticello used an unbalanced line and Kingston failed to shift to strengthen its forward wall against the mountain team's strong side. As a result, Monticello's power plays on the tackles and off center were very successful. However, the boys heard plenty about the unbalanced line from Coach Kias at half time.

Then on several occasions the boys lost valuable ground when deep in their enemy's territory by being off sides. Kingston's ends appeared over anxious all through the game. It was the wing men on every occasion. This off side shows that the boys are not really working together and until there's unity great success will not be gained by the Maroon as past experience shows.

Probably within a few days tickets will be placed on sale for the Schenectady game.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

It seems to me there has been a lot of unnecessary gabbing about the new football rule this year that makes the ball dead whenever any part of the carrier's body touches the ground except his feet.

The instance of a ball-toter stumbling while out in the clear, with a chance to regain his feet and proceed to his destination, is cited to show the alleged unfairness of a regulation which in this case, would automatically stop the runner's advance.

The fact is, first, that such instances are so rare as to be discarded from consideration. Any ball-carrier who can't keep his feet while "out in the clear," with no opponent near enough to stop him, probably will be kept on the bench or with the scrubs.

Stumblers Get Hit

The player who stumbles for any reason, whether from an attempted tackle or plain awkardness or a slippery field, generally is going to be pounced on forthwith and prevented from making any further progress.

The danger of "piling on" to halt a player, partial to the crawling method of advancement, is minimized by the automatic dead-ball rule. It belongs in the book, even though its adoption happens to have been influenced by extraordinary circumstances in connection with the 1931 season, and it will stay there.

The coaches, meanwhile, who have been squawking about the matter might just as well save their breath and start concentrating to instructing halfbacks how to keep their feet on a clear track.

215 Pound Line

Speaking of football lines, how would you like to bump into this collection of huskies slated to bear the forward brunt for Billy Laval's South Carolina team this fall:

Joe Johnson, 220; Joe Morehead, 220; Freeman Huskey, 215; Dave Meirs, 215; Henry McManus, 210; Joe Shinn, 206; Chuck Hajek, 205; Neland Raby, 195; and Nelson Fortson, 195. The average is around 215 pounds of solid brawn.

Laval's giants, with a year's seasoning, may be a sensation in the Southern conference. Their early season setback by Georgie Tech in 1931 threw them off-stride. They never fully recovered from the shock of losing to a subnormal Tornado.

This year Laval has a new-style huddle to give the experts in the south something to talk about. It opens up quickly in trick fashion, calculated to give the opposition something besides the front-line beef to worry about.

Purple Hurricane Prepares for Fray With Army Eleven

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 27—With a squad of 42 players the "Purple Hurricane" team of Furman University will arrive here Friday morning and work out in Michie Stadium in the afternoon in preparation for the opening game of the Army football season Saturday afternoon, October 1. Included in the visiting squad is Charlie Kearns, 175 pound halfback, who last year ran 70 yards for a touchdown in the Wake Forrest game and 50 yards for another score in the Newberry game. While the Army backs will probably average a little heavier than Furman, it is believed that the visitors' line considerably outweighs the cadets.

Major Sasse is giving the Army squad vigorous workouts this week, full speed scrimmages being daily features. Vidal, who was shifted to quarterback after Herb's injury, is developing into a fine broken field runner. Brother of the famous "Gene" Vidal, this youngster has an excellent football background. Last winter he was a regular attendant of the quarterback schools so he is well posted on the strategy of the game and the Army system.

Another new man whose development has been most encouraging is Hutchinson at right tackle. "Hutch" has been a reserve for Jack Armstrong, but his steady improvement indicates that he may win a coveted position in the starting lineup. Last season "Hutch" played on the scrubs.

Army's passing attack has received considerable attention and it is probable that Sasse will utilize the speed of the ends to make his principal scoring efforts via the aerial route. King, Kopcsak, Edwards and Burlingame are all fine receivers, while on the hurling end the cadets have Fields, Vidal, Buckler and Brown. Buckler was on last year's plebe team and is also a fast, shifty ball carrier.

Canzoneri Meets Kirsch Tonight

New York, Sept. 27 (AP).—Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, meets Lew Kirsch of New York in a 10-round non-title match at the Queensboro Stadium tonight.

Kirsch has been beaten only once in a comparatively brief boxing career but he does not figure to seriously disturb the champion.

BOWLING SCHEDULES ON COLONIAL ALLEYS HERE

Kingston Patrolmen Drop Close Game To Newburgh

Before an approximate attendance of 700 at the Kingston Fair Grounds Monday afternoon, the baseball team of the Kingston Police Department made a valiant attempt to square matters with the Newburgh nine which more than a week ago defeated it 7-5 at the Hilly City, but fell short of the goal by dropping the game 4-2. As the score indicates, however, the contest was one well worth watching and was the means of netting a nice sum for the Volunteer Aid Committee, which will use the proceeds to furnish needy school children with food and clothing.

Whether Sergeant James V. Simpson's expectations of making $1,000 on the game will be realized is not known just yet for a complete report by those selling tickets has not been made. But the police themselves sold more than $300 worth of tickets, the money already being accounted for, and besides gave their services for the game, standing all expenses so that not one cent would have to be taken out of the money raised for the kiddies, who will receive its full benefit.

With the good purpose of the game in mind and a determined spirit to balance their standing with Newburgh, the Kingston police took the field at the Fair Grounds, which had been all trimmed up for the occasion by some board of public works men and "Tump" Comeback, official ground keeper, and in their attractive gray and blue uniforms made their more experienced and nimble Hilly City rivals play at top speed to cop the bacon in a contest that had the fans off their seats at several intervals.

Of course Newburgh had first turn at bat, but did nothing in the first inning. Haight, third sacker, and lead-off man went out when Bill Leonard grabbed his liner and tossed to Wes Cramer at first for the putout. Lord struck out and Foster made the third out by the same route.

In Kingston's half of the frame, Cramer struck out; Bill Leonard took the bench when Corkedale, catcher, nabbed a fly on his last strike. Ed. Leonard hit to Patty Edwards, pitcher, who tossed to Lord for the third putout.

The Second Inning.

Scott, the first Newburgher to face Freddie Stoudt, took two strikes then singled safely to right field. Lewis hit to Stoudt, who threw to second base, catching Scott and leaving Lewis safe on a fielder's choice. He went out trying to steal second. Bill Leonard making the putout on a toss from Stoudt. Edwards the next man up flied out to Bill Leonard.

"Hipe" Healey led off for Kingston, striking out. Clarence "Home Run" Brophy, who in Newburgh walloped one of Edwards's slants for the circuit, followed Healey by fanning lustily three times and Walt Madajewski did the same.

The Third Inning.

Newburgh started the third inning with Corkedale going to bat. He hit to Stoudt, who threw to Cramer at first, scoring the first putout. Cooney, second baseman for Newburgh, grounded to Pete Keresman at second and Pete tossed to first registering the second out. Sergeant Adams made a fluke hit to Bill Leonard at short and made first base. Haight came to bat and hit to Leonard at short and Bill tossed the pill to Pete Keresman, catching Adams as he tried to advance a base.

For Kingston's half, Pete Keresman led off with the bat, fanning three times. Len Relyea, stocky little catcher, also went out on strikes. Freddie Stoudt, his battery mate, go a walk, the first of the game. Up to this point Edwards had struck out seven batsmen out of nine that faced him. Cramer followed Stoudt, hitting a fly to Foster at shortstop who made a spectacular catch, falling down and rolling over without dropping the ball, which he tossed over to second baseman Cooney as he sprang to his feet.

Newburgh Scores In Fourth

Lord came to bat for Newburgh in the fourth, hitting to Bill Leonard, who threw to Cramer at first, beating the runner. Foster flied out to the same Leonard and then Scott came to the plate. He hit to Leonard at short. Bill tossed wildly to Cramer, who could not get the throw. Scott advanced to second on a poor throw by Freddie Stoudt, who tried to catch him napping, and scored on Lewis's single to right field. Pat Edwards, the next Newburgher to bat, helped to win his own game by doubling to right field, bringing Lewis home. Pete Keresman, trying to get Edwards's hit made a double somersault in missing the pill and afforded the fans one of the big moments of the game. Corkedale went out Stoudt to Cramer for Newburgh's third out.

Kingston Fails

The Kingston coppers came to bat in their half of the inning doubly determined to win after Newburgh's scores, but failed. Bill Leonard, first up, struck at two and then flied out to Pitcher Edwards. Ed Leonard struck out and "Hipe" Healey followed the same route, making the ninth man that Edwards had struck out up to this point in the contest.

Newburgh had another chance to score in the fifth but passed up the opportunity. Cooney hit to Stoudt, who threw to Cramer for a putout at first. Adams fanned. Haight after a strike and one ball singled to left field. Lord let two go by for balls, struck at two and Haight stole second between the swings. He was left there, though, as Haight struck out, failing to bring in another run for the visitors.

Keresman Gets First Hit ..

"Home Run" Brophy, first Kingstonian to bat, struck out. Madajewski, let two go by for balls, then struck at one and finally connected with the pill, raising it to Foster at short, who bagged it for the second out. Then Pete Keresman, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, came to bat and plugged a hit to Sergeant Adams in right field, making first base on the blow. The hit was Kingston's first of the contest. Pete "died" on the bases, however, as Len Relyea, the next batter, struck out. With one of his healthy swings, Len tipped one that bounced back, out of the catcher's reach, and smacked Umpire George Cragan on the chest protector.

The sixth inning brought no runs to either side. Foster led off for Newburgh by flying out to Pete Keresman in right field. Scott went out, Keresman to Cramer and Lewis hit to Stoudt, who tossed him out at first. Stoudt started the proceedings for Kingston by getting a single to left field and was replaced on the base-paths by Pete Keresman. Wes Cramer flied out to Haight at third base. Bill Leonard struck out as did his brother, Ed, making 13 strikeouts for Patty Edwards.

Locals Score First Run.

Edwards, starting the seventh for Newburgh, went out Keresman to Cramer. Corkedale hit a hot liner to Cramer at first and was out. Cooney singled to Stoudt, who picked up the liner and tagged the Newburgh patrolman in a brotherly manner as he dashed along the base line in the direction of first sack.

"Hipe" Healey got on first for Kingston with a single, and was given a runner, Bill Leonard took his place. "Home Run" Brophy struck out, Leonard in the meantime reached second on an error by the catcher and stole third. Madejewski flied out to Haight. Pete Keresman, the next batter, could not be found in the Kingston dugout and Sergeant James V. Simpson, manager of the local nine, who was coaching on third became so excited that it was thought for a time that he would go in and pinch hit for the missing batsman. But Pete, who had been to the box-office to see how the financial end of the event was progressing, made his appearance and the game went on. He fanned at the first one over the plate, but connected with the second, scoring his team's first run sending Bill Leonard home. Len Relyea the next man up flied out.

Persutti, a new face in the visiting lineup, taking the place of Sergeant Adams, who hit by Freddie Stoudt when he came to bat in the eighth. He stole second on a bad throw by Freddie to Wes Cramer on first, and Stoudt was given an error, his second of the game. Haight went out Stoudt to Cramer. Lord hit to Bill Leonard at short who tried to get Persutti at third, throwing to his brother Ed. He missed the toss, however, and the runner was safe as was Lord who got to first on a fielder's choice. The situation looked bad for Kingston as Persutti danced off and on third trying to make his way home. Foster hit to Stoudt who tossed him out at first and Scott lifted a high fly to Madajewski in centerfield. Walter sank the pill in his glove, for a spectacular catch, and Newburgh's third out.

Mahoney Tallies

In the eighth Kingston tied the score 2-2. Stoudt singled. He was given a runner, Ed Mahoney being chosen to do the sprinting. Wes Cramer sacrificed, sending Mahoney to second. Bill Leonard hit to Lewis in centerfield, but he dropped the ball and Mahoney made home on the error, making a desperate slide to reach home plate. He missed the platter by a few feet in his dive, but managed to put his hand on the rubber before the catcher had an opportunity to tag him.

Newburgh Scores Two.

The ninth inning started with the score tied, but Newburgh came through with two runs, capturing the laurels. Lewis singled driving a hot one through the path of Cramer and Keresman Edwards fouled in the direction of Winnie Entrott, but he was unable to make the catch to put the batter out. Edwards went back to bat and Lewis stole second. Edwards hit to Bill Leonard at third and he tried to catch Lewis going to third but his brother Ed dropped the ball and the runner was safe. Edwards, of course, was safe on first. Corkedale the next man up hit a high one to center but Officer Brophy missed it and the two winning runs crossed the plate.

During the game, Earl S. Leeman of the Vanderlyn Battery Company, broadcast the features of the event and announced the presence of prominent citizens at the contest. He did his part when City Assessor Martin presented Bill Leonard with a large basket of flowers from the Kingston House of Flowers and when Mayor Eugene B. Carey tossed out the first ball to open the game.

Slugging Yankees Favored to Beat Cubs in Opener

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Big City pulsated with World Series fever today as the Chicago Cubs, glamorous champions of the National League, and the New York Yankees, the boys with thunder in their bats, prepared to fight it out in baseball's greatest spectacle at the Yankee Stadium.

Tomorrow they go at it. Two games here, then three at Chicago, then back here for two more, if the series goes the limit.

The Cubs, slipping in under the Hudson at 10 a. m. this morning, were to be given full possession of Yankee Stadium for a last minute brushing up on fielding and a sharpening up of batting eyes. The Yankees, too, were to snap through just enough work to retain a keen edge for the big series.

Here is how matters stand: The approximate odds 8 to 5 in favor of the slugging Yankees, the prospect that there will be showers tomorrow and Thursday, and the majority of fans frankly skeptical of the dope that has established the American League champions top-heavy favorites.

About the only point upon which all agreed was that the big series is not likely to break any attendance records. There has been a healthy, normal sale of tickets and there probably will be around 50,000 customers in Colonel Ruppert's big ball yard when play starts at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow, but the record of 82,000 set in 1926 probably will not be endangered.

Middies, Newburgh And Port Win Games

All the DUSO League teams came through with flying colors in their games Saturday afternoon. Middletown won from Binghamton High, 6-0; Port Jervis defeated Highland, 25 to 0; Newburgh took over the Alumni, 3-0, and Kingston won its game with Monticello, 18-0.

It looks as if the competition in the DUSO circuit is going to be keen this fall. All the teams starting out winners has a lot to do with the future success. A victory at the beginning gives the boys plenty of fight for the coming battles. However, in a week or two more accurate forecasts may be given.

Capozella and DiBello did the job for Middletown that brought them the victory. A blocked punt and a recovery divided the honors of the tally between the Middie center and left guard. Only for this break, if it can be called that, the game would have ended scoreless. Binghamton had a heavy squad and very capable. Although the Middies did make a few impressions on them throughout the game, it appeared that they would never be able to score on just plain football. The score came in the first quarter.

Chumas the Hero.

At the same time Newburgh was in the midst of a furious battle with the Newburgh Free Academy Alumni team that took it on the nose 3-0 as a result of a placement kick in the first quarter by Chumas. He booted the ball 12 yards.

Oliver Stars.

Oliver ran 50 yards for a score Saturday afternoon in Port Jervis's game with Highland. The eleven showed great form for the opener and the score indicates how well the team worked. The final tally was Port Jervis 25, Highland 0.

Cubs Greeted In New York By Rain

New York, Sept. 27 (AP).—The Chicago Cubs, jubilant and ready for the opening of the world series tomorrow, arrived in New York at 10 a. m. this morning and were greeted by a drizzling rain, which threatened to curtail their scheduled plan of working out at the Yankee Stadium today.

The invading party included 27 players and nearly 50 club officials, wives of the players, and newspapermen.

Guy Bush, who is expected to be Manager Charlie Grimm's pitching selection for the opener, had little to say except that he was feeling fine and eager to get at the Yankees.

The players were immediately taken to a hotel and will go to the Yankee Stadium early this afternoon for their first workout, the weather permitting.

Eddie Sexton, Brooklyn negro, retained his middleweight championship of the Amateur Federation of Sports Clubs, Inc., by defeating Jackie Feldman of Schenectady in the feature of the American Legion boxing card at the open air arena of the ex-servicemen Monday night when approximately 1,000 fans turned out to see the set of bouts staged for the benefit of the Legion welfare fund.

Feldman, fighting under a handicap in that he had to have several stitches put in his right hand at the Kingston Hospital before the match because of an automobile accident just outside of Kingston on his way to this city, fought on practically even terms with his clever dancing opponent until the fifth round. In this stanza, Sexton let loose a heavy attack, nailing Jackie with stiff rights and left hooks to the head and mid-section that weakened him considerably and had him bleeding.

The weights were Feldman 138, Sexton 158.

Joe Rodriguez, 134, from the same stable as Sexton, fought his usually clever fight, outpointing Ralph Rapineto of Schenectady, 136, with an attack that wore down the little Dorpian a lot, especially in the first rounds. In the second and third chukkers Rodriguez staggered Rapineto with rights under the heart and in the fourth caught him in the solar plexus with a smashing right that made him waver. In the final two rounds Ralph tried to overcome the lead that his opponent had piled up, but in endeavoring to do so took only added punishment. Both were tired when the final gong sounded.

Nick Alteri of Schenectady, scheduled to do battle in a grudge affair with Smoke Watkins, 225-pound "Tarzan of the Brickyards", was unable to appear and his place was taken by George Smith, a 195-pound German lad from Paterson, N. J. Georgie lasted full four rounds with Smoke, accomplishing a feat that Alteri might not have done had he been present to meet the giant negro. The match was called a draw.

Buddy Emerson, popular little Remy lightweight, was given the verdict over Joe Raymond, 130 pounder from Brooklyn in a six rounder that many thought should have been awarded to the visiting pugilist or at least called a draw. Raymond punished Emerson with plenty of left hooks to the body. Buddy's best punches were to the head of his adversary, who shook them off and showed no ill effects.

Ruso Costello, East Kingston southpaw, and Sailor Bouck of West Hurley drew in their four round match which furnished plenty of action. Bouck did the leading until the fourth when Costello opened up and played a tattoo on the Sailor's stomach which slowed him up considerably.

Probably the best scrap on the program was the one showing Herbie Sleight, who won the championship of Hasbrouck avenue by knocking out Chester Dawe in 56 seconds against K. O. Brown of Pouckhockie. The rugged little Italian battler from the brickyards was floored eight or ten times by Sleight who previous to the fight was advised not to meet Brown but step aside and let some more experienced scrapper do the battling. Herbie refused, however, saying he was not afraid of his man who had several knockouts to his credit. And Herbie made good.

In the opening match Dinny Ritchie of Schenectady stopped Battling Joe Myers of this city in 56 seconds of the fourth round. Weights were Ritchie 139, Myers 142.

Officials were Bill Singer, referee; J. Finnerty and Harris Brown, judges; Dr. Henry, timekeeper, and Samuel J. Riber, announcer.

Another card of bouts will be held by the Legion on Monday night, October 3, when the main bout will be fought between Eddie Sexton and Phil Bronson of Waterbury, Conn. Doc Studer made the match upon request of Bronson, who in his letter asking for the opportunity to fight here advanced the opinion that he thinks he can beat the classy negro.

Reports From Y. M. Physical Department

Carlton N. Foster, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. made a series of announcements yesterday pertaining to the coming winter. A meeting of the Sunday School Basketball League will be held in the near future, the bowling alleys will open this Wednesday, the Mercantile Bowling League meets Thursday at the Y and the boys' program for gym and swimming got under way this week.

Programs would be further advanced if the weather was not so splendid outside. It is Foster's theory that all the winter arrangements will be held up until the weather conditions change, which will probably be in a short time.

However, he has the boys group going in their regular gym and swimming periods. Following is the program for this week, starting with today:

Tuesday at 4 p. m.—Student B.

5 p. m. Student C swim.

Wednesday at 4 p. m.—Leader training corps.

4:45 p. m. Junior Life Saving instructions.

Thursday at 3:30 p. m. Student A.

7 p. m. Employed boys.

Friday at 4 p. m.—Beginners swimming.

Saturday at 9 a. m. Student C 10:30 a. m. Student B.

It was also announced that on Monday, October 10, the Open Day program will be given at the Y to which the public is invited. This is known as "Founder's Day" and is celebrated by an entertainment given by the boys gym groups in the gymnasium. All boys taking part in this show will have special gym periods set aside during which they may rehearse.

Alleys Open Wednesday.

The bowling alleys at the Y will open Wednesday. They are in excellent condition, having been done over and polished for the coming season.

The bowling leagues will be getting under way shortly. The Mercantile League is meeting Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock and all teams interested in entering should have a representative there.

On October 31, the City Bowling League is getting under way. There are 10 teams racing for the honors this winter.

Grade School League.

The Grade School Basketball League will begin by the middle of November. Foster is working on the project now. Teams are being formed and arrangements are being made for the coming season. Just what schools will enter is hard to say.

Men's Gym.

The program for the men's gym will start next Monday. The arrangements will be announced later in the week. This schedule is sort of an experiment. Changes will probably be made in the future, putting the time of classes at the convenience of the men.

There will be gym, swimming, special exercise groups and volley ball league, etc. Probably something will be added or taken away before the stride that will last through the winter is reached.

Sunday School League.

A meeting of the Church Sunday Basketball League will be held some time this week. A number of the boys are now busy getting the groups together. Any team interested in entering the league may get in touch with Mr. Foster at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Foster said yesterday that the outlook for the church league this year was bright. It is his opinion that there will be more teams in it than ever were before. However, by the end of the week or the early part of next something definite should be had on the organization.

Action On Contract In County Court

An action on contract to collect a grocery bill was taken up in county court Monday afternoon and the defendant in the action seeks by a counter claim to recover money loaned plaintiff.

Agnes T. Joy, executor of the last will and testament of James Kelly, deceased, seeks to recover the balance of a grocery bill from Louis Hulsair, Jr., of Sawkill and Mr. Hulsair seeks by the same action to recover $145 which he claims he loaned Clarence Kelly during his lifetime to meet bills which were owing by the business which was owned by James Kelly and operated at that time under a power of attorney held by Clarence Kelly.

Plaintiff alleges that according to the books of the company a running account was kept at the store and that Mr. Hulsair owed approximately $200 at the time of Mr. Kelly's death. He seeks as executor to collect the money.

Says He Paid Bills.

The defendant on the other hand alleges that he has paid his bills and that the firm owes him money which was loaned. He alleges that during the time Clarence Kelly operated the store of his father on North Front street at the head of Crown street he was a frequent caller at the store and traded there and that he purchased groceries there but each Saturday night when the Hulsairs received a check for the bluestone which they had sold during the week they met at the store and cashed the check and paid for their groceries and then divided up the balance as the profits of the business which father and sons operate in the town of Kingston.

Louis Hulsair, Jr., claims that during the later days of Clarence Kelly's lifetime, business was not so good and Mr. Kelly asked him to loan money to him in order that he might meet a grocery bill which the firm owed and became due January 1, 1930. Mr. Hulsair alleges that he had always been very friendly with James and Clarence Kelly and that he did loan money to Clarence to meet the bill owed by the store. This money loaned to Clarence Kelly while he had power of attorney from his father to operate the business it is alleged became a charge against the estate of James Kelly since it was borrowed to meet a bill owed by the store which was owned by James Kelly and operated under a power of attorney by the son, Clarence. Mr. Hulsair seeks to recover this money under a counter claim and denies he owes the estate anything for a grocery bill.

Augustus Shufeldt appears for plaintiff and Robert J. Howard appears for defendant.

Jurors not engaged in the case on trial were excused until Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

Judge Traver announced that on account of supreme court next week the county court would have to adjourn at the close of this week but that due to the consideration shown him last spring when he was ill he would sit after the conclusion of criminal trial work in order to give attorneys an opportunity to try any civil matters they desired to dispose of at that time. Last spring civil matters were adjourned on account of the health of Judge Traver and he will now give attorneys every opportunity to try these issues if they so desire after the conclusion of criminal matters in November. Cases not disposed of this week will be given a chance in November.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock this morning.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Skyscraper Souls." Here is a different kind of screen drama, a picture taken from the novel of Faith Baldwin that has a great city as its locale, and a skyscraper where most of the action of the story takes place. It's the absorbing story of big business mixed with romance, and it is both unusual and good. The sets are gorgeous, and the direction is flawless. Superlative acting by Warren William, Maureen O'Sullivan, Norman Foster, Jean Hersholt, Anita Page, and Verree Teasdale make this picture something worthwhile.

Orpheum: "The First Year" and "Beyond the Rockies". Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor act out the joys and sorrows that arise in the first year of married life in a pleasing and romantic manner. There is both humor and pathos in this screen version of the familiar stage play, and Mr. Farrell and Miss Gaynor prove again that they are the screen's greatest romantic team. "Beyond the Rockies" is an above average melodrama of the west, starring Tom Keene.

Broadway: "Singer's Midgets" on the stage, and Tom Mix in "Destry Rides Again" on the screen. The famous Singer Midgets in a stage attraction of unusual entertainment value with a company of thirty people, reindeer, elephants, ponies, singing ducks, and a number of other features. This offering is a complete stage presentation in itself, with clowns, songs, dances, and circus stunts of all kinds. "Destry Rides Again" offers Tom Mix in a whirlwind western story that should appeal to both young and old. It is exciting from start to finish. The story concerns a certain Destry who is sent to prison wrongfully by his enemies, and when he gets out he spends his time getting revenge. Claudia Dell is also in the cast.

Tomorrow

Kingston: "Same.

Orpheum: "Madame Racketeer" and "The Office Girl." Alison Skipworth is the featured player in this laughable story of a lady racketeer who uses her talents to help her own daughter who does not know her. George Raft and Richard Bennett are also in the cast. "Office Girl" is a story of modern business with Renato Miller, Jack Hulbert and Morris Harvey.

Broadway: Same.

SCOUT SCRIBE RELATES TROOP EXHIBITION

At a recent meeting of Troop 12, Boy Scouts of America, it was announced that this troop had the honor of winning the prize offered by the Ulster County Fair Association for the most educational exhibition. It was held at the Farmers' Field Day on August 31. An interesting demonstration of camp life and scout work was given. The first aid tent, in charge of Star Scout John Clarke, was the center of attraction but fortunately there were no serious accidents.

The second day tents were pitched and fires were built, this presented a very enticing picture of camp life. Later a tower was built and signals were exchanged from a distance. The program was in charge of the assistant scoutmasters. During the excitement of the other programs a child became separated from her parents, but the scouts soon returned her to her mother. This is all in the day's work for a real scout.

It is the hope of the troop that such demonstrations as this will serve to enlighten the public in the purpose of scout work and thereby gain its cooperation.

ROBERT EVERETT, (Scribe) Troop 12.

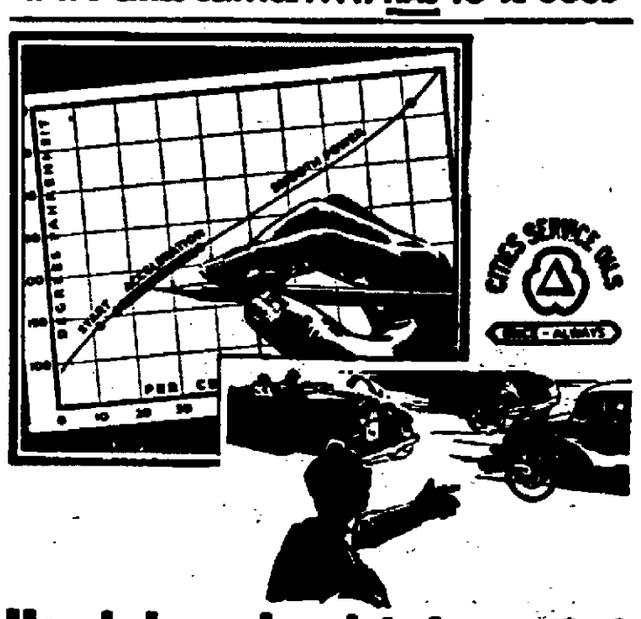
"IF IT'S CITIES SERVICE . . . IT HAS TO BE GOOD"



Here's how chemists know that a gasolene gives quick pick-up

Getting away fast—sprinting when you want to sprint—getting out of the pinch when you need to—that's pick-up—and the chart above tells the chemist if the gasolene will give it.

This gasolene will. The chart shows the result of boiling gasolene, and noting the percentage which evaporated at certain temperatures. Horizontal lines indicate temperatures; vertical lines, percentages. In this case the shape and position of the curve tell the chemist that the gas will respond quickly at the throttle; that in the climatic conditions under which this gasolene is to be used, it is neither over-balanced with light, quick-burning, low-power-producing elements, nor top-heavy with the more powerful but more sluggish "heavy ends."

Making such tests daily, the group of expert chemists who check every run from Cities Service refineries, see that these fuels have pick-up, power, speed and quick-starting in the best possible balance for all-around performance under the climatic conditions of the section where they will be sold. They can, and do, reject any gasolene which does not come up to this standard. That is why we can justly make the claim—"If it's Cities Service, it has to be good."
